FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS ABOUT ADA

Q: Are there limitations on the ADA’s barrier removal requirements for existing facilities?
A: Yes. Barrier removal need be accomplished only when it is “readily achievable” to do so.

Q: What does the term “readily achievable” mean?
A: It means “easily accomplishable and able to be carried out without much difficulty or expense.”

Q: How do I determine what is readily achievable?
A: Determining if barrier removal is readily achievable is a case-by-case judgment. Because removing common barriers can be simple and inexpensive in some cases and difficult and costly in others, the regulations for the ADA provide a flexible approach to compliance. Factors to consider include: (1) the nature and cost of the action; (2) the overall financial resources of the site involved; (3) the number of persons employed at the site; (4) the effect on expenses and resources; (5) legitimate safety requirements necessary for safe operation; and (6) if applicable, the relationship with any parent corporation.

Q: What are examples of the types of modifications that would be readily achievable in most cases?
A: Examples include the simple ramping of a few steps, the installation of grab bars where only routine reinforcement of the wall is required, and similar modest adjustments.

Q: Will businesses need to rearrange furniture and display racks?
A: Possibly. For example, bars may need to rearrange tables in order to permit access to wheelchair users.

Q: Does the ADA require existing buildings and newly constructed facilities to meet the same standards?
A: No. The ADA establishes different requirements for existing facilities and new constructions.

Q: If an area of my store is reachable only by a flight of steps, would I be required to add an elevator?
A: Usually, no. The readily achievable standard does not require barrier removal that requires burdensome expense, and in most cases, installing an elevator would qualify as a burdensome expense.

Q: I have a portable ramp that we use for deliveries – can’t I just use that?
A: Yes, you could, but only if the installation of a permanent ramp is not readily achievable. If you use a portable ramp, it should be properly secured and staff should be trained in its safe use.

Q: What if I’m not able to remove barriers at this time due to my financial situation? Does that mean I’m relieved of current responsibilities?
A: No. When you can demonstrate that the removal of barriers is not readily achievable, you must make your goods and services available through alternative methods, if such methods are available and readily achievable. Keep in mind that barrier removal is a continuing obligation that changes as your circumstances change.

Q: When barrier removal is not readily achievable, must alternative steps be taken without regard to cost?
A: No, only readily achievable alternative steps must be undertaken.

Q: Must my business have handicapped-accessible restroom facilities?
A: Not as far as your license with the West Virginia Lottery is concerned. The Lottery is only interested in making sure that your lottery games are accessible to disabled persons. That does not mean that as a private citizen you do not have other obligations under the ADA, such as accessibility to your restrooms, but it does mean that the Lottery is not required to assure your compliance in regards to those other obligations in order to grant or renew a license.

Q: I have removed all barriers that are readily achievable, but there are still barriers to my lottery games. Can I honestly say that I am in compliance with the ADA?
A: Yes. If you have removed all barriers that are readily achievable, then you are ADA-compliant and may so answer on your license form.

This form is included to notify you of our privacy practices and no action is required on your part.

With the exception of Lottery Commissioners, Lottery officers or Lottery employees, the West Virginia Lottery will only ask you for your social security number in the following circumstances:

1. You claim a lottery prize of $600 or more directly from the Lottery, either by mail or personally at our Charleston or Weirton office. Your social security number is also your tax identification number, and the Internal Revenue Code requires that this prize payment be reported to the IRS along with the winner’s tax identification number [Form W-2G]1 or
2. You are a sole proprietor of a business, a partner in a business, or the shareowner of an incorporated business that is a lottery retailer or sales agent, and the Lottery must prepare an IRS [Form 1099] to report sales commissions received by you along with a tax identification number if that number is also a social security number [Form 1099]; or
3. You are applying for a lottery license or permit and you must allow the Lottery to capture your fingerprint images to be transported to the FBI’s National Criminal Information Center [NCIC] for criminal background investigation required by statutory or regulatory authority. This is an FBI requirement; or
4. You have applied for a lottery license or permit and you have been asked to send copies of one or more years of your federal income tax returns in order to determine your credit worthiness for a table games license.2

Disclosure of your social security number should only be made if obtained from you in accordance with Section 7 of the Privacy Act of 1974. Your disclosure is voluntary and failure to provide the number will not subject you to a criminal or civil penalty.

When the West Virginia Lottery obtains your social security number, it will use the number for the purpose(s) cited above. The Lottery will not sell or share this number with any other person or entity, and will decline to make it available in response to any freedom of information request. Only government entities that are authorized to receive and use social security numbers by law will gain access, other than when outside access is ordered by a competent court of record.

If you have any questions or concerns about this privacy notice, or if you wish to submit a complaint regarding the Lottery’s privacy policy, please contact the Legal Division at (304) 558-0500 ext. 255.
